Dedication . . .

To the young men and young women in the armed forces of our country who unselfishly sacrifice their lives for a great cause — freeing the oppressed everywhere — so that we may enjoy and take advantage of the opportunities of a free world, where the principles of justice and truth, and honesty shall prevail, we humbly dedicate this ANNUAL.

C. M. GOCKLEY
Superintendent of Schools

The present days and those ahead are overflowing with challenge to all of us. Never before has there been a greater need for intelligent and practical services. Never have problems been more baffling of solution. Never have communities looked to the schools for assistance and looked to them for leadership to so great a degree. It is our hope that the Class of 1944 shall contribute to the solution of these problems.

Sincerely yours,

CLARENCE M. GOCKLEY

After four long years of study and labor, you have arrived at a goal — graduation from high school. As you pass this goal, you find in the distance higher and better goals, the goals of higher education, and, a successful life in a community, for your country, and for your Creator.

Class History

Four years ago when we entered Whitehall High School, the class had expectations of the coming war, although we thought little of it. The class began its freshman year 179 strong, took part in the field of sports, participated in school activities, and did well in their studies. Twenty-five members of the class have thus far joined the forces of our country to combat the enemy.

Although we have not been the outstanding class of Whitehall, we have studied hard and earned a place in the history of our school. Our studies are not all that we have gotten out of our time spent here, for the fine sense of cooperation that we developed between ourselves and the faculty will be needed as we enter this troubled world to maintain peace.

For the remaining classes, may we hope for much better and glorious years to come, so that the high standards of our Alma Mater which were established by our predecessors may be upheld.

RICHARD MATTHEWS, President

Congratulations to the Class of 1944

ROWLAND W. SNYDER, Class Adviser

Through the years you spent in acquiring an education you have had many experiences which this year book will preserve in the years to come. This annual, which marks the close of your formal public school training, will also mark the entrance, for many of you, into some phase of our Country's service.

You are aware of the dangers threatening our democracy which has been so treacherously attacked. You will soon be participating in its astounding surge of energy and power in combating its enemies.

They, who have been responsible for your education, deeply regret that the goals toward which they have guided and directed you must be abandoned for a time for the sake of preserving our way of life. However, believing our course to be just, we have confidence that we will triumph and that peaceful days will come. I hope your school has given you a training which will make your contribution easy, yet valuable.

When the time comes for you to take up your life's work, in the type of world that will follow this war, you will need to think clearly. You must see that justice is done especially to those who are less fortunate than you. In doing this, I trust your memories will recall the helpful thoughts and teachings of the years gone by to guide your feet in the ways of peace and happiness.

My personal wish for each of you is that your thoughts and deeds will bring you much success and happiness.

Sincerely,

ROWLAND W. SNYDER

After three years of attendance at Whitehall, we, the class of '45, realize more and more the importance of education. This year our class has been active in every activity and extra-curricular program which the school has offered. In academics, also, we carry our full share.

We have had many happy experiences here at our Alma Mater and look forward to our year as Seniors.

To the Members of the Staff

As editor-in-chief of this year's classbook, I am grateful to the whole staff for their unceasing participation in trying to make our book one of enduring happiness and interest for all our future days.

As we look into its pages, we shall be confronted with memories spent in trying to acquire a higher education to prepare us for a normal, upright life. Then we will recall all the interests of our schooling, the good times, the bad times, the many true friends we acquired, and the loyalty and patience of our teachers and our supervisor. All the gaiety, seriousness, pleasures, and happiness will come back in a moment only for us to look and wonder if we, at that time, really accomplished everything that was within us.

So we have tried to make this issue of our last year spent in high school one which you will cherish always. With sincere gratitude,

Whitehall "Hi-Lites"

It was an inexperienced Senior Class that took charge of the Hi-Lites in fall. But under the strong, guiding hand of Miss Marie Gibbert the first issue was made a success.

Adverse conditions, however, forced us to make plans for a new and different Hi-Lites. Unfortunately, we have not been entirely successful in all our efforts.

We, therefore, leave the Hi-Lites to our successors with the request that they pick up the strands where we have left off, and never fail in their endeavor to raise the Hi-Lites to heights never before attained.

The Band

We take pleasure in expressing our sincere gratitude to Mr. Howells, our new band director, who has worked diligently and faithfully with the members of the band. His untiring efforts have and will be responsible for the Band's many outstanding accomplishments. During the football season, they appeared at most of the games where they presented interesting drills and formations.

Besides helping to make Whitehall Township's Halloween parade a success, the Band also participated in the American Legion Parade and the Memorial Day Parade in Coplay.

The Band presented its fourth annual concert on April 30, 1944, and had as its guest conductor Jerry Reinsmith, director of the Pioneer Band of Allentown.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Ladies' Band Club for its efforts to make the Whitehall High School Band one of the most outstanding organizations in Lehigh County.

Whitehall A capella Choir

The A capella Choir, consisting of thirty-five voices, was organized late in the year. To be eligible, one must be a member of the Boys' or Girls' Glee Clubs from which they are selected. A good voice and some musical ability are necessary for membership. The purpose of the choir is for the study and performance of the better choral works. Because of its newness and the limited time for rehearsal no definite program was arranged and its activities were few. The future for this organization is bright and it is destined to be the most outstanding vocal group in Whitehall High School.

MR. HOWELLS, Advisor

Girls' Glee Club

It is a well known fact that music plays its part in the development of morale of the people. With this thought in mind, the Glee Club has offered its services. The Glee Club has rendered Handel's "Messiah" at St. John's Reformed Church, Fullerton; St. John's Lutheran Church, Mickleys; Cementon Reformed Church; Egypt Reformed Church, and Salem Reformed Church, Catasaugua. The annual Candlelight Service was presented in the high school auditorium. Additional programs for students and the public consisted of a radio broadcast, an Easter program, and a musical comedy, "Marrying Marian."

To those who are graduating, we express our confidence in their success, and, to the remaining members, continued success.

This year, for the first time in over a decade, Whitehall High School has had a Boys' Glee Club. Over fifty male students answered Mr. Howells' call for boys. Under his direction these boys have combined work and a pleasant time. They sing in four-part harmony and have a great desire for Negro Spirituals. The Boys' Glee Club is planning to participate in the musical comedy, "Marrying Marian," and also jointly to run a minstrel with the Varsity "W" Club.

Debating Club

This year's perplexing and provocative question chosen for debate was Resolved: That the United States Should Join in Reconstituting the League of Nations

The first meet was held on March 3 at Slatington and the second on March 17 at South Whitehall. Both these meets were attended by our club, and we are most appreciative of the kind reception which our hosts tendered us

The club has taken in many new members this year with the express purpose of training them for future use. Throughout the remainder of the year the club will debate various other questions and will attempt several extemporaneous debates

The club plans a social event at the close of the school year

American Society of Amateur Microscopists

The aim of this energetic group of young amateur microscopists is to work cooperatively while at Whitehall High School; to attain a sufficient knowledge of the study of the unknown, and to impress upon each member the importance of new discoveries to mankind. Then, as each individual surges forward alone along the paths of higher education, he shall reach his goal in some specialized phase of this same type of work as a result of earnest previous endeavors.

The Asams of Whitehall High fully realize the many tasks that are yet to be performed in their ongoing study of realms unknown, but they are willing to work steadfastly at mental tasks in an effort to achieve the minutest success. Their dreams of success are primarily concerned with benefits to the world rather than personal benefits of a selfish nature. With such visions a harvest of good results is inevitable.

It is the duty of each member to keep in mind the fact that genius is not always an inherited talent, but that it may be developed through the years by education and personal sacrifice in time devoted to studies which frequently may seem fruitless. However, discouraged though they may be at times, each member shall recall the heartache of Madame Curie and her courage to continue—alone; the struggles of Pasteur—and his ultimate success, and by the mistakes and achievements of their predecessors, they shall profit. We know they are as earnest in their studies as any of the greatest or least of the scientists down through the ages and we wish each of them success.

Varsity "W" Club

The purpose of this club is to create better sportsmanship. In order to become a member, an athlete must have attained the title of letterman in any of the sports activities. The number of members this year is thirty-seven.

Each year new members are added and friendly initiations are carried on by the old members.

The club this year has sponsored a few dances and held a minstrel. Each year the members of the club give some type of a gift to each of the graduating seniors as a token of departure.

Dramatic Club

The plays which were presented by the Senior Class this year have been a great success.

Dora Dean is a story which proves how honesty and rightful living and thinking always triumph in the end. Dora becomes an orphan by misfortune the death of her parents. She is forced to live with relatives who make a drudge of her and cheat her of every possession. When her wealthy uncle returns from India and the dishonesty of her relatives is brought to light, Dora Dean at last finds her rightful place under the sun.

Almost Summer suggests the time when young peoples' thoughts turn toward vacationing. Paul, a high school student who expects to spend his vacation at a lake, has either to pass his final examinations with an extremely high mark or attend summer school. Fearing that his rival might pay too much attention to his girl friend during his absence, Paul decides to study hard. After many conflicts and through the efforts of his girl, Paul accomplishes his aim.

ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL SEASON

Football Team

This year's football eleven has carried along the fine tradition of sportsmanship which has always been prevalent among the Whitehall teams. Under the competent supervision of coaches Mushrush and Nevins, the boys played their opponents on even terms throughout the season. Although their record is not as good as that of last year's team, it still is better than anyone had expected, considering the inexperienced team resulting through last year's graduation. The seniors who will leave the team this year are: —Paul Skarbo, Monroe Seidman, Richard Hoch, Richard Matthews, Richard Edelman, Roy Comfort, Homer Diefenderfer, Albert Vaughn, Sherwood Bowen, Francis Molchan, and Robert Holland.

Varsity Basketball

An inexperienced but fighting Whitehall quintet opposed by unusually experienced, veteran league competition, managed to attain a .500 percentage rating in the Lehigh Valley Interscholastic League. In non-league competition the Zephyrs boasted three wins over one defeat.

A brilliant victory and one that will be long remembered occurred in the last game of the season when the Zephyrs produced a major upset by winning over an undefeated Palmerton team, the eventful champions of the current Lehigh Valley League.

The Varsity was represented by eight seniors, Andrews, Bartoni, Edelman, J. Kunock, Kraymk, Matthews, Seidman, and Semonis, who will be sadly missed when the next basketball season rolls around. However, five juniors and four sophomores, also included on the Varsity roster, who have accumulated a wealth of experience, will form a strong nucleus for next year's squad.

Junior Varsity Basketball

This year's success of the Junior Varsity may be well attributed to the excellent training and the tireless efforts of their coach, Mr. Mushrush.

With a strong determination and unconquerable initiative these sophomore and freshman boys fought every obstacle lying in their pathway to achievement. We are assured that they are now ready to grasp the strands bequeathed to them by the senior players.

Baseball Season

Proceedings for the Zephyrs baseball team originated with an overwhelming response of baseball talent. Star applicant was our proud protégé, Johnny Kinock, whose signature marks his destiny as an athlete under contract to the New York "Yankees." Monroe Seidman and John Kravnik head the list, together with underclassmen — Bill Warke, Willard Toole, and Fred Kinock — the latter who will probably rate the pitching assignment this season.

Not because we want to, but because we have to, we bid you senior players a regretful, but sincere farewell.

Gymnastic Teams

Once again the gym teams have functioned as a part of the extra-curricular program of Whitehall. This year the squad of approximately thirty girls, under the direction of Miss Bateman concentrated its efforts on marching, calisthenics, dancing, and tumbling, all of which were presented to the public in their tenth annual gym exhibition.

This year showed renewed interest in the boys' gym team, directed by Mr. Nevins. About thirty boys responded to the call for candidates and they began training with the purpose of making this year's Gym Exhibition the best.

A team consisting of gymnasts of ability as Frank Kumeritsky, Paul Skarbo, Richard Hoch, Joe Semonis, Richard Numbers, and Melvin Masonheimer, was worth seeing. In addition the new candidates worked hard to acquire perfection.

We are sure everyone enjoyed a pleasant evening on May 5th when the teams performed in the Annual Gym Exhibition.

Our Cheerleaders

Without the cheers of the crowd, competitive games would lose a great deal of their glamor. In order to have cheering, it is necessary to have capable cheerleaders. This year, White hall was exceptionally fortunate in having a group of lively, efficient, cheerleaders who added much to the entire seasons of football and basketball

Humor

Mr. Howells: "You say your voice has volume?"

A. Vaughn: "Yes, volume. I can throw it out."

Mr. Howells: "Well, throw it out in the alley."

D. Peters: "Can you swim?"

G. Thomas: "Only at times."

D. Peters: "Only at times! How strange. And when do these moments come to you?"

G. Thomas: "In the water."

J. Kraynik: "When are you going to shave?"

P. Skarbo: "I'm not shaving till Saturday."

J. Kraynik: "What's coming off Saturday?"

P. Skarbo: "My whiskers."

Mr. Howells: "What do you think of the band?"

Mr. Bennick: "It's as good as any leader could shake a stick at."

C. Fabian: "I hear an elephant at the circus stepped on your cousin Jakie's nose."

J. Holena: "Stepped on it! Why, he walked the whole length of it!"

H. DeVhammer: "I never saw you smoke a cigar before."

C. Molick: "I just picked it up recently."

Mr. Mushrush: "What is an organizer?"

R. Schultz: "Aw, he's the guy that makes music in the church."

T. Yost: "He deals in furs and hides."

I. Scheetz: "Well, if he was honest he wouldn't have to hide."

"Hey, boss, I'm taking a month off," said the clerk as he tore another sheet off the calendar.

J. Kimock: "I write jokes to keep the wolf from the door."

J. Brown: "I see, you read them to the wolf."

R. Schultz: "I was in a big train robbery on the way to York."

L. Panny: "How exciting! Tell us about it."

R. Schultz: "Took my girl to eat on the diner."

C. Barton: "Why don't you like girls?"

J. Kraynik: "They're too biased."

C. Barton: "Biased?"

J. Kraynik: "Yes, bias this and bias that until I'm broke."

The Lord made women beautiful and dumb—beautiful enough to please man and dumb enough to like him.

B. Laub: "You beast! Where is your ethics?"

J. Andrews: "Oh that! I thwaded it for a Chevrolet."

Mr. Howells: "We will now sing: 'I hev called her 'Tonsils' because so many young doctors took her out.'"

"There are two sides to every question," proclaimed the wise man.

"Yes," said the fool, "and there are two sides to a sheet of flypaper, but it makes a difference to the fly which side he chooses."

Stag (to Fran Shoemaker): "Want to dance?"

Fran Shoemaker (waiting for her escort): "No, I don't believe so."

Stag: "Would you care to have a soda?"

Fran Shoemaker: "No, thank you."

Stag: "Would you care to go for a walk?"

Fran Shoemaker (losing patience): "Certainly not!"

Stag (calmly): "Then take my advice and go home, for you're going to have a heck of a rotten time."

Mr. Snyder: "I've had this car for years and never had a wreck."

One of the students: "You mean you've had this wreck for years and never had a car!"

E. Scherer: "When she dances with her sweetheart she calls him Mustard because he's always on her dogs."

Mr. Mushrush: "Did you hear they are going to fight the battle of Bunker Hill all over again?"

Class: "No, how's that?"

Mr. Mushrush: "Because it wasn't fought on the level."

R. Matthews: "Do you know who invented electricity?"

B. Holland: "Sure, Edison!"

R. Matthews: "Nope, it was Noah."

B. Holland: "What do you mean?"

R. Matthews: "When he unloaded his cargo of animals didn't he make the ark light?"

Mr. Wagonman: "I knew a man who spent twenty years writing one novel!"

Student: "That's nothing! I know a man who is spending his whole life finishing one sentence."

R. Matthews: "My girlfriend and I had an awful argument inside her house a while ago."

R. Edelman: "How did you come out?"

R. Matthews: "RUNNING!"

J. Kravynik: "If you put a mama duck and five little ducks in a box and shake them, what do you have?"

R. Matthews: "A box of quackers."

Teacher: "If there are any dumbbells in the room, please stand up." A long pause, then a lone freshman stood up.

Teacher: "What! Do you consider yourself a dumbbell?"

Freshman: "Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hated to see you standing all alone."

When a fellow breaks a date he usually has to.

When a girl breaks a date she usually has two.

Joe: "I want to change my name, Your Honor."

Judge: "What is your name?"

Joe: "Joe Stinks."

Judge: "I don't blame you. What do you want to change it to?"

Joe: "Charlie."

Mr. Nevins: "Suppose the victim was bleeding profusely, had a broken leg, was extremely pale, and showed no pulse. What would you do?"

R. Edelman: "Mr. Nevins, I'd bury him."

The sirens had sounded and R. Schultz was on his way to the Air-Raid Shelter, his suspenders trailing after him. His girl friend, coming behind, trod on the braces, and, on the release, they gave Schultz a smart smack on the back.

"You carry on, Hilda," he said bravely. "I hey've got me."

Employer: "Are you a clock watcher?"

C. Bartoni (applying for job): "No, I don't like inside work. I'm a whistle listener."

"Jack" Andrews and "Johnny" DeLong were looking into a jewelry display window at a collection of diamonds.

Jack: "Johnny, how would you like to have your pick in there?"

Johnny: "Nuts, I'd rather have me shovel."

Bootblack: "Shine your shoes?"

H. Derhammer: "No."

Bootblack: "Shine 'em so you can see your face."

H. Derhammer: "No."

Bootblack: "Don't blame you."

Early last season Mr. Nevins, Whitehall High School baseball coach, was trying to get Monroe Seidman to abandon the idea of wearing his pants down around his ankles.

"Did you ever see how sloppy Al Simmons looks wearing his pants that way?" Nevins asked.

Monroe came right back with: "If I could play ball like Al Simmons, I wouldn't wear any pants at all."

Robert Schultz was driving his new Buick toward Fullerton, when Murray Borger asked, "Say Schultz, what's the name of this town we're coming to?"

"You mean the one we're going through?"

"No, the one we just passed."

"Johnny" Kimock was at bat against one of the pitchers from Central Catholic High School. "Johnny" swung and missed the first two balls. The third pitch was inside, so "Johnny" thinking it a ball, let it go by.

"Strike three you're out!" Umpire Bill Tait called.

"Johnny" turned to the arbitrator. "Bill," he said, "You missed that one; it was inside."

"Maybe so," Tait returned, "but you missed the first two, so that makes us even."

"It all comes back to me now," sang the skunk as the wind changed direction.

J. Sterner: "Since I met you, I can't eat, I can't sleep, I can't drink."

D. Anthony (cooly): "Why not?"

J. Sterner: "I'm broke."

The first little pig said to the second, "My, I never sausage heat," and the second replied,

"Yes, I'm nearly bacon"

C. Barton: "Yep, she was kicked out of school for cheating."

J. Budnar: "Hm, what happened?"

C. Barton: "They found her counting her ribs in a physiology exam."

R. Edelman: "So long, I'll see you at nine o'clock, P. M."

B. Quigg: "What do you mean: P. M.?"

R. Edelman: "Perhaps maybe."

B. Quigg: "Last night Bobbie asked me to marry him and make him the happiest man in the world."

R. Demkee: "Which are you going to do?"

M. Seidman: "Some men thirst after fame, some after money, some after love."

R. Holland: "I know something all thirst after."

M. Seidman: "What is that?"

R. Holland: "Salt herring."

J. Holena: "There are several things I can always count on."

P. Skarbo: "What are they?"

J. Holena: "My Fingers."

Saleslady: "Yes, that's the smartest hat we've got."

E. Scheiner: "It doesn't have to be smart. I'll put the brains in it myself."

J. Andrews: "Do you serve crabs here?"

Waiter: "We serve anyone. Sit down!"

F. Palco: "If a buttercup is yellow, what color is a hiccup?"

J. Brown: "Burple!"

Into the mint Lone Ranger rode
In manner brave and bold,
When suddenly a voice sang out:
"Silver Threads Among the Gold."

B. Laub: "My Grandfather's eighty years old and never uses glasses."

F. Shoemaker: "That's right—I notice he prefers to drink out of a bottle."

C. Molick: "Where do you bathe?"

H. Derhammer: "I bathe in the spring."

C. Molick: "I didn't say when I said where."

Student: "I have a pain in my abdomen."

Teacher: "Young man, Superintendents have abdomens. Principal's have stomachs. You have a bellyache."

Farmer: "And this is the cider press."

R. Matthews: "How interesting! And when do you run off the next edition?"
